

For Immediate Release
Contact: George Poulos
212-563-7725

FREE CHILDREN'S FESTIVAL OF FLOWERS AT JEFFERSON MARKET GARDEN

Date and Time: Saturday, May 19th 2012 from 11AM to 2PM
 (Rain Date: Sunday, May 20)

Event: Children's Festival of Flowers

Location: Jefferson Market Garden in Greenwich Village
Enter through the gate on Greenwich Avenue, between Sixth
Avenue and 10th Street.

Details: A celebration of Spring, flowers, and community. This free annual event gives children the opportunity to enjoy a Spring day on the garden's beautiful center lawn. Crafts, entertainment and giveaways. Plus DAVE THE WORM GUY demonstrating how worms and kids of all ages can help save Mother Earth. All free.

Sponsors: Jefferson Market Garden, The New York Public Library, Kids at Work, with Festival Helpers from NYC Law Enforcement Explorers, Post 2206 @ the 6th Precinct.

Background: Located in Greenwich Village, Jefferson Market Garden is one of the most beautiful community gardens in New York City. A treasured oasis of flowering plants, shrubs and shade trees, the garden is open to the public May through October, weather permitting; Tuesday-Sunday afternoons. For more information about the garden, visit www.jeffersonmarketgarden.org.